Preamble

We have designed the SOSIEL Platform to encourage and support collaboration wherever possible. Our goal for distributing the SOSIEL Platform and/or source code is to promote collaboration, transparency, and scientifically rigorous research on cognitive decision-making in multi-agent social and social-ecological contexts. We encourage others to participate by not only using the SOSIEL Platform but also developing new ideas, new extensions, and new research perspectives and in turn, sharing these accomplishments with the larger modeling community. With these goals in mind, we have developed the following license agreement to protect our intellectual investments and the investments of our collaborators, to protect us from liability, and to promote collaboration by keeping our license simple and our intentions clear. We ask that all Users and Developers share this vision.
